

ACTION & IMPACT

Our work delivering high-quality health care to impoverished communities is possible because of you. What's more, it's succeeding because of you.

The numbers in this report, representing our work in 2017, show the incredible difference we're making together around the globe. They prove that modern medicine can, and should, be accessible to everyone, no matter how poor they are, or where they live.

You'll also find stories of what we can't measure: the value of a life saved, and the indelible mark our work leaves on families and communities.

PIH staff depart from a home visit in Burera District, Rwanda.
Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

250,000
HIV
tests

HIV is no longer a death sentence when clinics and community health workers are equipped with the tools to diagnose patients.

1.5 million
outpatient visits

Around the world, PIH clinicians see patients and treat everything from HIV and TB to malaria and pneumonia.

500,000
home
visits

Day after day, PIH's thousands of community health workers walk miles to care for patients and their families in their own homes.

17 million
tablets of antibiotics

Thanks to you, PIH staff were able to treat over 1 million patients with these lifesaving drugs.

1 million
women's health
visits

Your partnership enables PIH to provide comprehensive health care to women, from family planning and cancer screenings to pre- and postnatal care.

Photo by Jon Lascher / PIH

"On behalf of my fellow executive directors around the world, I wanted to sincerely thank you for believing in this work. Here in Liberia, every day I see your gifts put into action—a young woman safely delivers her baby in a country where 1 in 28 women dies of maternal causes; an MDR-TB patient receives the support he needs to adhere to a difficult treatment and be cured of his disease; a patient with schizophrenia in a hard-to-reach community finally gets the diagnosis and medication that will transform her life. Your support allows us to always go the extra mile to save a life."

- Dr. Patrick Ulysse, Executive Director of PIH-Liberia (at left)

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

"When children come to PIH's malnutrition clinics, they are sick, swollen, and in a really bad state. Then they start on treatment, and the first sign I see that the child is getting better is he smiles. From the moment he starts to play, that means the treatment is working."

- Esther Mahotiere, nurse and nutrition program coordinator for PIH-Haiti

Photo by Rebecca E. Rollins / PIH

"Because of your support, from Haiti to West Africa my colleagues and I are able to fortify clinics and build health systems that will save more and more lives."

- Dr. Regan Marsh, Director of Clinical Systems (at top left)

4,000 cancer patients in care

Since the start of PIH's oncology program, chemotherapy and other critical treatments have given hope to thousands of cancer patients who otherwise wouldn't have access to care.

30,000 safe deliveries

In some of the world's most dangerous places to be pregnant, PIH provided expecting mothers with facility-based births at the hands of trained professionals.

94 containers of drugs and supplies

Your generosity filled these 40-foot-long containers with medicine and essential equipment, from lab tests to scalpels, and sent them to PIH facilities.

30,000 people living with HIV in care

Your support has allowed PIH to save these men, women, and children's lives with daily antiretroviral therapy.

Using your donations wisely and compassionately.

Each and every gift helps us heal patients, prevent senseless deaths, and further our mission of bringing health care to the most vulnerable among us. Here, please find a summary of how your generosity is put to good use—and know that behind every dollar are people on whose lives you have made an invaluable impact.

A YEAR IN PHOTOS

In 2017, we brought hope where there was despair. Health care where there was sickness. And when disasters struck the people we serve, we were there—all thanks to you. Here's just a brief look at what you made possible last year.

RWANDA | March 2017

Not long ago, cancer was a death sentence here. But since 2012, kids like Frank Mugisha, age 6, have come to the PIH-supported Butaro Hospital to beat their cancer—just as Frank did last spring.

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

PERU | May 2017

Last spring, historic rains lashed Lima, leaving countless people like Simeona homeless. We helped the worst-hit families survive—Simeona was one recipient of new prefabricated houses we installed in the aftermath of flooding.

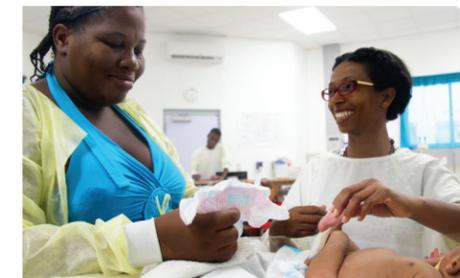

Photo by Jorge Flores / PIH

SIERRA LEONE | October 2017

Last summer, torrential rains triggered mudslides in Freetown, stoking new fear of cholera. We helped vaccinate more than 500,000 people against the deadly water-borne disease.

Photo by Jon Lascher / PIH

HAITI | November 2017

Marc Julmisse (right), deputy chief nursing officer, cares for baby Kalinsky and new mother Guerline Cirius (left), who stayed at Kay Manmito, the maternal waiting home we opened last year at University Hospital in Mirebalais, Haiti.

Photo by Elizabeth M. Campa / PIH

MEXICO | November 2017

This 5-day-old boy's mother brought him to PIH's Casa Materna in Mexico, worried he could not nurse. We provided the pair with lactation counseling to ensure he was eating well.

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

Together, we commit to the world's most impoverished, remote corners.

Through droughts and floods, where the roads are few and the mountains are steep, we fight disease and poverty with health care and hope. Thank you for being a part of PIH.

HAITI

PIH working in partnership since 1987
12 facilities
3,050 community health workers
1,220,482 catchment population

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

PERU

PIH working in partnership since 1996
15 facilities
109 community health workers
309,899 catchment population

Photo by William Castro Rodriguez / PIH

RWANDA

PIH working in partnership since 2005
43 facilities
4,865 community health workers
955,903 catchment population

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

LESOTHO

PIH working in partnership since 2006
80 facilities
2,240 community health workers
1,011,548 catchment population

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

MALAWI

PIH working in partnership since 2007
14 facilities
1,099 community health workers
165,662 catchment population

Photo by Jeanel Drake / PIH

NAVAJO NATION

PIH working in partnership since 2009
20 facilities
80 community health workers
250,000 catchment population

Photo by Cecille Joan Avila / PIH

KAZAKHSTAN

PIH working in partnership since 2010
6 facilities
40 community health workers
6,361,125 catchment population

Photo by Askar Yedilbayev / PIH

MEXICO

PIH working in partnership since 2011
10 facilities
94 community health workers
65,000 catchment population

Photo by Aaron Levenson / CES

LIBERIA

PIH working in partnership since 2014
19 facilities
142 community health workers
191,101 catchment population

Photo by Rebecca E. Rollins / PIH

SIERRA LEONE

PIH working in partnership since 2014
2 facilities
110 community health workers
506,100 catchment population

Photo by Rebecca E. Rollins / PIH

ROSEBUD SIOUX TRIBE

PIH working in partnership since 2015
1 facility
15 community health workers
29,705 catchment population

Photo by Sonya Shin / PIH

800 Boylston Street, Suite 300
 Boston, MA 02199
 857-880-5600 • www.pih.org

